ATLANTA'S DAY.

The Gate City of the South
Greets the President.

THE IMMENSE CROWDS.

Ride of the Presidential Party
Through the City.

THE GOVERNOR'S RECEPTION.

HERE have been days
and days in Atlanta,
but never anything
that could compare
with yesterday. It was Atlanta's day,
and right royally did
the gate city of the south pay her tribute of respect and love to the president of the United States of America.

And the crowds! When did all those people come from? was an unanswered query that could be heard on all sides. It seemed as if not only all Georgia, but the entire south, had turned out to see the president. Atlanta, on yesterday, was a city, and no mistake. In Chicago venerable there were "no flies on this town."

The president and his lovely wife were shown the city, and on all sides were greeted by the heartiest receptions. Then they were driven to the exposition grounds, where they were greeted by more people than had ever before gathered together in the south.

In the evening there were
dinners and a reception,
in which the distinguished guests met
the elite of southern society—a fitting close to an eventful day.

BREAKFAST AT THE KIMBALL.

The Morning Meal of the President and His Wife.

The president and Mrs. Cleveland are thoroughly fatigued by their long journey to Atlanta,
and it was about half past eight o'clock yesterday morning before there were any signs of life in the bridal chamber of the Kimball.

A few hours previous to breakfast the president had passed into Atlanta, and had come to room 112, their private dining room, where breakfast was served. The president, Mrs. Cleveland, Postmaster General and Mrs. Vilas, Colonel Lamont, Mr. Bissell and Dr. Bryant formed the party, and the breakfast was a simple one, consisting of bacon, ham,
sausage, tender loin steaks, breakfast bacon,
browned potatoes, breads, cakes and coffees.
Both the president and Mrs. Cleveland ate heartily.

A DRIVE THROUGH THE CITY.

Various Scenes and Incidents Along the Route.

The president's carriage stopped directly in front of the ladies' entrance of the Kimball at 9:35 o'clock, and in a few seconds those of the crowd nearest it were plucking the flowers and vines which the artist had entwined around the vehicle.

But they were quickly stopped and pushed back.

When the carriage left the house General Young, with members of his staff, were around it. Mr. Brady drove from the house to Decatur street, and up Decatur to the Kimball. All along the street the crowd was so thick that the carriage made very slow progress. The team was turned just above the ladies' entrance to the hotel, and when the carriage stopped the door swung out over the style block. The Governor's Horse Guard, Captain Mudge commanding, about forty troopers took position in front of the carriage an hour before the carriage came out, and kept a narrow space directly in front of them clear. The space became beautifully less very rapidly after the carriage came up until Chief of Police, Captain Collier, and a dozen troopers arrived. The chief assumed charge, and in a short time beat the throng out of the street from Pryor up to the new bank building.
Inside this space no one was permitted unless in uniform. The sidewalkers, however, were densely packed while every window and porch was a vivacious scene, the windows
full to overflowing. The crowd extended up Decatur street to Peachtree, and was as thick as could be. Every inch of ground being occupied. Ladies and children were almost as numerous as the men. Down Decatur as far as Collins the crowd was just as thick as it was when the president and his wife left, while Pryor street was densely thronged.

Soon after the police had cleared a space around the carriage, carriages intended for GOVERNOR TAYLOR.

members of the party were driven up. The president, however, did not appear to be in a hurry about coming out, and the crowd became impatient. Carries were sent for the president, and the crowd responded, giving those who first broke the stillness. Just before 11 o'clock Mr. Grady appeared in the doorway and was greeted with long, loud cheering.
The crowd knew that the president would soon appear, and the noise increased. Mr. Grady stepped forward and entered the hall, and entered the hotel. In a few minutes the president was seen in the hallway approaching the door. Beside him was Hon. C. A.
Collier, president of the exposition. He stepped upon the sidewalk easily and advanced toward the carriage. Col.
Collier stepped aside and threw open the door.
The president stepped aside with his left foot, and the carriage, stood with uncovered head awaiting Mrs. Cleveland. The lady was immediately behind the president, leaning upon the arm of Mr. Grady. She looked over the crowd smiling, and passing between the president and Mr. Collier, entered the carriage, took the seat on Mrs. Cleveland's right.

Mr. Grady then got in and sat down facing the lady. Mr. Collier faced the president. During all this time the crowd yelled. Handkerchiefs were waved from the over the same ground to Peters street. Then continuing up Capitol avenue it turned into Mitchell, passing the beautiful residences of Hon. Harry Jackson and Dr. Baird. Captain Jackson's lawn was the vantage ground chosen by a number of ladies, and as the president had raised his hat, while Mrs. Cleveland bowed. From Mitchell the line moved into Washington, passing the Baptist and Presbyterian churches. The new capitol was viewed by the president. From Washington into Hunter the G. H. G. turned, and down the

Among the clergymen were Rev. John

W. R. Brannah, chaplain C. Williams;
Rev. Pat Walsh, Rev. Chancery C. Williams;
Rev. Spencer R. Atkinson, Brunswick, and many others.

The members of the legislature were highly
pleased, and all went off saying they were Cleveland men. The grasp of the hand by both Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland are peculiar and impressive, and while his is the most forcible hers is the most charming. Neither will ever
be forgotten.

GROVER'S GREETING.

Enthusiastic Welcome to the President and Wife at the Exposition Yesterday.

It is possible, though hardly probable, that Atlanta's guests, the president and his wife,
during their tour among the cities of the north and west, have seen larger crowds than welcomed and honored them at the exposition grounds yesterday. But it is as certain as it is proper that the ovation which has followed them upon their triumphant journey, from the day of their arrival in the national capital, reached a grand and complimentary climax at the exposition yesterday.

The members of the legislature were highly
pleased, and all went off saying they were Cleveland men. The grasp of the hand by both Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland are peculiar and
impressive, and while his is the most forcible
hers is the most charming. Neither will ever
be forgotten.

It is certain, too, that no more sincerely cordial welcome was ever given any public man, than that of yesterday to President Cleveland and his wife, coming straight from the hearts of our people, with enthusiasm, with admiration and respect behind an enthusiasm that showed itself whenever and wherever an opportunity was afforded.

Long before the president and escort arrived at the grounds every seat in the grand stand as well as every available position upon and around the fence were occupied by immensa, though patient and good-natured crowd. In the grand stand audience the ladies were in a decided majority, all eager to catch a glimpse of the president and the first lady of the land, whose beauty they all acknowledged

ent here. May they rule in righteousness and wisdom, and when life is over with us all, we wish that all may be present at the right hand of God to receive the plaudit of "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter into the joys of thy Lord."
All this we ask through Christ Jesus, the Redeemer. Amen.

WON HER AT POKER.

A Poker Game In Which a Woman "Went Up" Against #2,000.

Texas Tom is paying San Francisco a visit. Day by day he is seen passing up and down Market street, accompanied by a very pretty woman whom he calls Bay, and who seems very much interested in Tom. The latter is about 21 years old now, but a veteran in experience of the shady sort. Just at present he is atop the heap and is wearing diamonds. His baptismal name is Thomas P. Redmond, but that doesn't make any difference—he is Texas Tom to all men. Nobody hereabouts knows the girl, beyond the fact that she is a blonde from the head-waters, has a pair of saucy eyes and cuts as pretty a figure as need be. The other day an old western sport turned up and spun this interesting yarn to a San Francisco Examiner reporter.

The sport literally won that girl you just saw him with, but without sword or courtship. In plain words, he won her at poker, after one of the longest and hottest sessions I ever saw over a round table.

About three years ago a slick short-card gambler named William Townsend took a professional tour through the south. In a Florida hamlet he encountered a beautiful girl of sixteen, who accepted his flash for genuine and married him against the will of his parents well-to-do and respectable people. Townsend played cards and rich raiment on his child-bride; but she could not descend to his level at first, and the coolness that arose between them soon after the hasty marriage was rapidly widening into a breach leading to separation. The couple moved in to Atlanta, Minn., a little over two months ago. He was in the same house, and after a few chance meetings Tom and Townsend's wife found themselves in love with each other.

Eight weeks ago last Monday afternoon Texas, Townsend and others sat down in Reindeer rooms to play poker. The game was small at first—twenty-five cents ante—but the stake rapidly swelled to figures that made it exceedingly interesting. Hour after hour rolled away and lengthened into a plurality of days, and Texas won considerable money. One player after another dropped in and dropped out, until finally at the end of three days only Texas and Townsend remained. The pair ate and drank between the deals, played standing up and did everything but sleep. After the second day the game began to be a sort of a farce, and the players were upon a kind of mindless pain-killing plaster. 26 cents.

I have had the pleasure of curing one of the worst cases of blood poisoning in connection with crystallites, that I have ever seen, and am having pronounced increased strength by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and CUTICURA SOAP. The soap takes the "cake" here as well as soap.

The Visiting Military.

Our soldier guests are among the notable sights of the city.

The handsome appearance, soldierly bearing, and discipline of the visiting military companies will not soon be forgotten.

Some of these companies would be singled out for favorable criticism at any military encampment. Whether on the march, or mingling with the crowds of spectators on the streets, these gallant volunteers show off to splendid advantage. Atlanta is glad to welcome them, and it is to be hoped that they are enjoying the freedom of the city, for it is theirs in the largest and best sense of the phrase.

MR. CLEVELAND came to Atlanta in time to see more southern people gathered together than any man had ever seen before.

Weather Predictions.

The claim is made that about sixty-eight per cent of the predictions of the signal service turn out to be correct.

Under the circumstances this is doing very well, but as a rule the weather predictions are very disappointing on great occasions when people are anxious to know what to depend upon. Nine times out of ten, when there is a celebration, or a big day, the prediction of fair weather is followed by rain, or a wet programme gives way to bright sunshine.

So unreliable is the guess work of the signal service on these special occasions that the people are in the habit of carrying their umbrellas and water proofs when fair weather is predicted, and, on the other hand, they sail out in summer attire when it is announced that it will be cold and rainy.

In order to be prepared for what comes every man should be his own weather prophet. This schedule will not bring any extraordinary number of disappointments, and it works very satisfactorily with people of the "grin-and-bear-it" temperament. After all, too much importance is attached to the weather. The best way is to go ahead regardless.

The crowd at the Exposition grounds yesterday was something wonderful. It was worthy of study.

Brave Crank.

Anarchist Parsons, who is now in the Chicago jail awaiting the execution of the death sentence, has written a characteristic letter to the governor of Illinois.

Parsons takes no stock in the effort now being made by his friends to have his sentence commuted. He writes to the governor that he is either guilty or innocent. If guilty, he prefers death rather than to go "like the quarry slave at night, scourged to his dungeon." If innocent, he is entitled to, and will accept nothing less than liberty.

This is brave talk. But the anarchist drops into mere driveling towards the close of his letter. He claims that there is a judicial conspiracy to murder the condemned anarchists. He protests against this judicial crime, but repeats his determination to suffer death rather than accept a commutation. In conclusion he asks the governor to examine the record of the trial and decide whether the prisoners are guilty or innocent.

This man is perhaps the only genuine American among the Chicago anarchists. He is something of a crank, but his American pluck bears him up to the last. We must not allow this man's heroism in a bad cause to excite our sympathy. He is the open and avowed enemy of society, law and order. There is no room in this country for such men. There is an opening for dead anarchists, but there is no place for them while they are alive. The sooner Anarchist Parsons and his fellow outlaws are under the sod, the better it will be for those who are left behind.

The president has probably seen bigger crowds than he saw yesterday, but he never looked on a better-humored gathering.

Caught in a Gin.

From the Columbus, Ga., Sun.

President Cleveland, in Georgia, is among his friends. The empire state of the south—the home of the state of the union—extends to him here—heartsick welcome.

Georgia is the only southern state which has never had a public candidate for president.

McLean, son of Mrs. Clara Dargan McLean:

"Well, what's the matter with going to the church pews? You can hear it on half the cars on the suburban trains, in the theater between the acts, in the church pews. It is having a bigger run than 'Let 'er go, Gallagher,' had. It has grown up like the woolly headed 'nigger' in Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel. It had no place of beginning, and from present appearances, has no well defined cause for stopping. It is having a great run in Chicago."

A Much Used Phrase in Chicago.

From the Chicago Mail.

A strong expression has long legs and gradually covers all the ground. Some of these expressions do not get beyond a certain boundary line, while others jump the fences and scatter in every direction. They finally grow upon people's tongues just as a wort grows on a man's hand. The most usual form of the word is that which takes the form of a queer "whack—whack—with—" etc. It is said that people use it without ever thinking that it is slang. A young lady is out with her escort. They are discussing where will go. The young lady asks: "What's the matter with going to the church pews?" She doesn't think that is slang. A couple agreed to get married, and called on the Rev. Dr. Thomas of using slang, but he did it when he used the expression just quoted.

REAL ESTATE SALE.

[Colonel George W. Adair, Auctioneer.]

FIRST GREAT AUCTION SALE OF CITY LOTS IN TALLAPOOSA, GA.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 24, 25 and 26, 1887.

The Three Days Following the Piedmont Exposition.

Tallapoosa, Ga., the city of the "Golden River," is situated in Haralson County, on the Georgia Pacific railroad, midway between the enterprises of Atlanta and Macon. It is elevated above sea level, and is one of the most pretentious cities of the United States. It is the Manufacturing center, and the summer climate of Jerusalem. The purity of water abounds in exhaustless quantity, many mineral springs have been discovered, with valuable medicinal properties, and remarkable cures are chronicled daily. Rich mines of iron, manganese, gold, copper, and other minerals are found in the vicinity, and the soil is excellent. The iron ore is of the Bessemer class, and is extensively used for steel making by the direct process, and is pronounced by all experts as the largest vein of this class of valuable ore in the southern states.

THE CITY PLAT.

Comprising 2,000 acres, has been largely surveyed and beautifully laid out in boulevards, avenues, streets, parks, lakes, etc., the landscape work to be finished by Prof. Joseph Frostine Johnson, the talented landscape engineer of New York, the engineer of the grounds of the Piedmont exposition ground in Atlanta and many public parks.

THE GEORGIA PACIFIC RAILROAD

Already crosses the city, giving a frontage, for factory sites, of nearly three miles, and the survey of the Chattahoochee, Bone and Columbus, now building under contract, will complete, in eleven months, and the Carrollton and Decatur extension of the Central Railroad of Georgia system run directly through the city. These roads completed the connecting grain and express road communication with the great rivers, and the city will be in direct touch with the leading manufacturing cities of the south, the lakes and great central points of the west, north and east.

TALLAPOOSA HAS EVERY ADVANTAGE

For a large manufacturing and residence city, its elevation, 1,200 feet above sea level, insures a healthy climate and a perfect system of drainage is secured by a natural fall from 50 to 100 feet to the mills and factories.

It is in the heart of the richest mineral region of the south and will naturally be the central manufacturing and shipping point for mineral, agricultural and timber products with a radius of twenty-five miles. Located sixty-three miles from Atlanta, 100 miles from Birmingham, and forty miles from Anniston, with no large manufacturing city intervening, it must, as a natural consequence, rapidly grow in importance.

LESS THAN FOUR YEARS AGO

Its population was fifty-nine. Today, with no stimulus but its agricultural and timber interests (minerals not until recently thought of), it has increased to 1,000 population, and supports three hotels, three physicians, a male and female seminary, and thirty-five business houses. New residences and business blocks are rapidly being erected, and contracts given for many more, while new arrivals add to its population daily.

What the Press of Georgia Say About Tallapoosa!

FROM ATLANTA EVENING CAPITAL:

Tallapoosa is destined to be the "Springfield" or "Deadwood" of the eastern part of the union. Many a man who has been plain hopped up and developed into a metropolis without even a small fraction of the many natural advantages of this superb town, situated as it is, right here on the Atlanta

THE PATENT WIRE GAUZE OVEN DOOR

TO THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT ON THE

It produces Practical Results in Baking and Roasting never before attained in any Cooking Apparatus, and will revolutionize the present methods of cooking.

ITS THEORY

That all food baked or roasted should be cooked in fresh freely admitted to the oven. This is done in the Patent Wire Gauze Oven Door, which is a substitute for it, containing a sheet of wire gauze nearly as large as the door itself.

The air freely circulates, facilitating the process of cooking, and producing food that is unequalled in quality and taste. It is a safe and reliable apparatus for use in an oven with a closed door.

It makes an enormous saving in fuel, meat, fat, oil, and labor, and is a great convenience to the housewife, removing all attention from the cook, and promoted health of the family by the extreme quality of the food cooked by it.

OPINION OF AN EXPERT.

Mr. J. C. Stewart, President of the Atlanta Camp, State University, says: "My deliberate judgment is that the oven should be considered the best invention for its door containing a sheet of wire gauze nearly as large as the door itself."

The air freely circulates, facilitating the process of cooking, and producing food that is unequalled in quality and taste. It is a safe and reliable apparatus for use in an oven with a closed door.
